$1 million fire hits city firm

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

A massive fire Sunday afternoon caused about $1 million in damage to the Central Transport building on Ecorse Road, but quick teamwork by Romulus and Taylor firemen, company management and "over the road" truckers helped keep the damage to a minimum, fire officials said. Romulus Fire Marshall David Allison said local firefighters received a 911 call from a Central Transport watchman at 2:28 p.m. Sunday. As local firemen arrived at the building at 29129 Ecorse (near Middlebelt), Allison said, flames were already shooting out of the roof, as massive amounts of black smoke caused by burning rubber began to billow into the sky.

Three Romulus fire stations sent 25 firefighters in response to the emergency call, Allison said, and kept the damage contained to the strapping area and dock office of the firm, about one quarter of the entire building.

A motorist driving by the fire area also rushed to a Taylor Fire Station about a mile and a half away and alerted them to the fire, Allison said. Taylor firefighters from two stations sent about 22 additional men to the fire scene and helped contain the blaze.

Allison said firefighters used several tele-squirts (aerial units) to help beat down the flames during the two and a half hour battle. He also praised some off duty "over the road" drivers from Central Transport, who came to the scene and helped remove many of the trailers and other vehicles from the building allowing firemen more accessibility to the structure.

Allison, who estimated the damage at about $1 million, said the cause of the fire remains undetermined, but is believed to have been electrical.

Mark Henning, Central Transport director of break bulk operations, also praised a number of company management officials who came to work that afternoon to help spearhead operations to repair the damaged phone connections by 4 a.m. Monday and allowed work to go on almost as normal all day Monday.

Henning said Central Transport opened operations in Romulus in 1978 and it is currently the largest of nine such company operations in the nation, employing about 250 individuals.

Central Transport, in business for about 50 years, has 144 facilities of various types across the U.S., he said.

In addition to the building damage, Henning said, at least 25 hi low vehicles also were damaged or destroyed by the fire.

Henning was gratified that no one was injured and that damage was contained so quickly by firefighters and support staff.

Allison also thanked the Salvation Army emergency staff from Wyandotte who responded with food and cold drinks for firefighters during the 80 degree plus effort. Also supporting the firefighters with additional cold drinks were representatives of the Clark Oil company, he said.

Allison said he believes the area of the building weakened by the fire will have to be razed and then replaced.

Adult education being threatened

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

State Rep. Gregory Pitoniak (D-Taylor) warned Romulus residents Monday morning that Gov. John Engler will try to kill state funding for adult education soon.

Speaking before a group of senior citizens, Pitoniak said he will fight Engler's effort because he feels that such educational efforts are critically needed in these tough economic times.

But despite the concern over the future following the rejection of tax reform Proposal A, Pitoniak found that most of the seniors were more angry with the continued delay in auto insurance reform.

Pitoniak explained that a car insurance reform bill with a 16-percent cost cutback has been approved by both houses, but has yet to be signed by Engler.

The bill would not take effect until next year and would only guarantee the cuts for six months, Pitoniak said, and he voted against it. He preferred a bill that guaranteed the cuts for a minimum of 12 months.

Pitoniak warned also that language in the bill would allow insurance companies to make some current guaranteed coverage optional at additional costs, thereby diluting the 16-percent savings.

Pitoniak distributed auto insurance comparison sheets to those at the Romulus Senior Center breakfast showing the difference between insurance listings now, what they would have been if Proposal D had been approved by voters last year and what the recently approved House Bill 4156 includes.

Pitoniak also offered information on the recent change in Inheritance Law in Michigan.

On June 8, Engler signed into law a house bill that repeals the state inheritance tax beginning Oct. 1, 1993 and replaces it with an estate tax.

It shows that as of Oct. 1, 1993 Michigan residents will not have to pay inheritance taxes unless the estate was valued at $600,000 or more.

Berlinn, Langley win quiet school races

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Despite comfortably winning the Romulus Community School Board elections Monday, incumbent Sandra Langley and former board member Kenneth Berlinn questioned the shrinking voter turnout.

Only 852 voters took time to cast ballots on the off-day election, with Berlinn the high vote getter at 533. Langley pulled 530 votes and challenger Pauline Calhoun received 414 votes.

The low voter turnout, along with the report that only three non-incumbents are seeking election this fall to city council seats, raised deep concerns with both Berlinn and Langley.

"I'm pleased with the final results and want to thank the voters for their support," Langley said, "but the extremely small turnout has me wondering."

The turnout was so light at 3:30 p.m., Langley said, she activated her phone bank volunteers to get out her supporters.

Berlinn also expressed happiness to be "returned to the team," but said he was frustrated with the poor turnout.

"Voters owe it to themselves to get involved and to support the candidate of their choice or to become a candidate themselves," he said.

"Two election days so close in time this month, both on off days (Wednesday and then Monday) obviously confused many," Berlinn said.

But if they simply turned on the TV on Monday morning they would have been reminded to vote," Berlinn continued.

He praised his family and other volunteers for aiding his campaign to return to the board after a one-year absence. Berlinn lost last year as five candidates sought two seats.

This year incumbent Dan Bales announced he was retiring after more than 12 years on the board. Berlinn then decided to seek a return to the board.

Sandra Langley

Calhoun campaigned strongly on the "time for a change" theme, stressing her displeasure with administration financial practices, low Michigan Education Assessment Program (MEAP) scores and potentially unhealthy asbestos abatement practices.

Both Langley and Berlinn

stressed their experience on the board and the need to complete the massive technology program.

Langley said it is important to return to candidates' night sessions to help educate voters on candidates' opinions. Other efforts will also be needed to spur election day turnouts.

Builder faces new trial

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Jailed home builder Byrne Benson, who allegedly ignited a number liens against Applewood Subdivision home owners this spring, faces a pre-trial hearing at the Frank Murphy Hall of Justice on June 23.

Benson, currently serving a one-year sentence in the Oakland County Jail on similar charges pressed by subcontractors of homes he had built in Waterford Township, appeared in the 34th District Court on June 9.

Benson was always known as a "slow payer" by his subcontractors, Judge Henry Zaborowski was told by a stream of complainants, who charged Benson has failed to pay them for many of the homes he ordered built in the Applewood Subdivision.

The sub-contractors also revealed this spring they were forced to file liens against the Romulus home buyers and even threatened some homeowners with eviction.

Benson, 60, of Ortonville, was charged with 13 alleged violations of the builder contractor funds in relation to the Applewood home construction.

But while his wife, Mary, 59, was not charged in Oakland County, Romulus police did file a dozen complaints against her since she signed checks and appeared at real estate closings in the Wayne County area.

Eight sub-contractors and three Applewood Subdivision homeowners were questioned by Assistant Wayne County Prosecutor Curtis Smith on June 9 and they testified that the Byrnes failed to pay more than $700,000 in outstanding debts in relation to the Romulus homes.

Zaborowski bound the cluster of complaints over to the Frank Murphy Hall of Justice with a pre-trial hearing slated for June 23.

All witnesses against the Bensons were asked to leave

Some things make you believe in immortality.

Can an air conditioner last forever? In truth, probably not. But we engineer the American-Standard 5000 air conditioner as if we expect it to. With a compressor we build and test ourselves for incredible durability. With a Spine Fin™ coil that resists corrosion five times better than traditional coils. Both covered by a 10-year limited warranty. Every component is tested before our name goes on it. More than just durable, the 5000 is also one of the most efficient units you can buy — up to 14 SEER. We don't believe you'll find a better built air conditioner, even if you search forever.

Romulus driver

seriously injured

A 25-year-old Romulus man was seriously injured early Sunday morning, when his car rolled over as he attempted to make a right hand turn at a high rate of speed at Wabash and Hannan Roads, police said.

The victim, who was driving a 1978 Camaro, was traveling west on Wabash Road shortly before 1 a.m., police said, when he passed another auto and then attempted a right hand turn on Wabash.

Witnesses said the Camaro was traveling at an excessive rate of speed (possibly up to 100 miles per hour), when it loomed out of control and flipped over numerous times after the tires hit a ditch on the side of the road.

Police said the victim, who suffered multiple injuries, was thrown 50 feet out the driver's side window. The car rolled over sideways and landed against a tree, police said.

A truck parked next to the tree also was damaged, police said.

The victim was initially taken to Annapolis Hospital and later flown to University of Michigan Hospital.

Police refused to release the victim's name because the investigation is still being conducted.

Tennis class begins in July

Tennis classes for youth 10 years and older will begin soon at the new courts outside Romulus Senior High School.

The classes offered by the Romulus Department of Parks and Recreation will include various skills levels from beginner to intermediate.

Classes for youth 10-17 will be conducted from 6 to 7:30 p.m. and for adults 18 and older from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

The class schedule is Fridays during July (9, 16, 23 and 30); Mondays in August (9, 16, 23 and 30). Make-up dates if needed will be offered Aug. 25 and 26.

Registration will continue at the Recreation Building until July 7. Cost is $20 per student and $10 for each additional family member.

Carolyn Coaltrain has announced that she is resigning from the Romulus Recreation Commission because of health reasons.

Her resignation letter written to Mayor Beverly McAnally was dated June 1.

Kosteva donates

$500 to library

Former State Rep. James Kosteva donated $500 to the Romulus Public Library on May 24, as he began to dissolve his officeholder's account.

Kosteva wrote to Romulus librarian Diane Hazen "this contribution was received by me in the light that people supported the causes which I fought for. By passing it on to the Romulus Public Library, it allows the donors' intentions to be served; this being the enhancement of our great community. I can think of no better recipient."

John Dewey, a noted educator, once said "education is not preparation for life; education is life itself."

"I know you share my conviction that the community library plays an essential role in the academic freedom for all of us at all ages and so it is with great regard that I pass along this donation," he said.

Kosteva, who formerly represented Romulus, lost a reelection bid last year after his area was redesignated following the 1990 census.

Romulus is now represented by Rep. Greg Pitoniak.

Romulus graduates stress family ties

The two top graduates in the Class of 1993 at Romulus Senior High School defied the claim so prevalent in today's society that family values have been lost in the current generation, by praising their parents and other family members for their educational successes.

Robert Graham, class valedictorian, speaking at the 1993 school graduation, the last to be held at Crisler Arena in Ann Arbor, thanked his extended family for "cheering me on," but said the "most important people in my life" are my parents.

"They have been more than supportive. They have taught me values, priorities, work ethics, how to get things done and even how to have fun," Graham stated.

"My mother has always been there whenever I needed food, clean clothes or lunch money. You name it, she had it and was doing it for me. Mom, I love you and thanks for everything," he continued.

"As for my father, nobody has influenced my life more than he has. I think like he does, I talk like he does. It just comes naturally to act like someone you admire, respect and have always looked up to. Dad, I love you. I hope to one day be as good a father to my son as you are to me. You've been the greatest," Graham stressed.

He then moved on to his fellow graduates, stating "I remember my friends from elementary. I remember meeting the rest of this great class in the seventh grade. Over all these years, I have realized how much friends mean to me."

Graham then said "On prom night, I was in a limo with four other couples. The guy, wanted to hang out in the limo for a couple of hours before we picked up our dates."

"Anyway, this song came on the radio. It was called 'Friends.' You remember that gay, old rap tune from way back, when we used to break dance. No matter how old the song was, the five of us guys sang along," Graham said.

"It was a really fulfilling feeling that sent chills down my spine and put a smile on my face to sing the song with my friends."

"That is what is so special about this class," Graham continued. "It appreciates value and really understands what a friend is all about."

He then told his classmates "I want everyone to look around today at their friends. Reminisce about the good times. Congratulate each other. Be happy for each other and join in the celebration of this class being set free into the world."

Graham continued "Sure it is the end of high school. But it's time to move on. This class has so much potential. I can't wait to see where some of us will be in five years."

"Graduating from high school is like being born again. We are babies. We're hungry babies in the real world now. Unfortunately no one is going to spoon feed us anymore."

"It's time to take control of

As for my father, nobody has influenced my life more than he has. I think like he does, I talk like he does. It just comes naturally to act like someone you admire, respect and have always looked up to. Dad, I love you. I hope to one day be as good a father to my son as you are to me. You've been the greatest.

- Robert Graham valedictorian

our lives. We are now adults. We have gained a new sense of independence.

"Independent and free is what we are in the United States of America. Free to have a dream and live it."

"People say 40 is over the hill. Well, we're half way up that hill now and the way I see it, the higher you climb, the longer you can coast down the other side," Graham concluded.

A second talk offered by Brian Molenda, class salutatorian, also offered great humility and love of family.

Molenda opened by saying "When I heard I was salutatorian, I was shocked. To be honest, when I was a freshman, I did not know how to pronounce the word; but with a little effort, I learned."

Molenda continued "At Romulus, I learned some other things as well. I learned how to treat people with the dignity that they deserve."

"I learned how working together and helping each other is far more important than just getting an answer. I learned that through hard work and sacrifice, it made you a stronger person. I think my class has seen the good times, and Lord knows, we've seen the bad. But in the end, I think we've all learned."

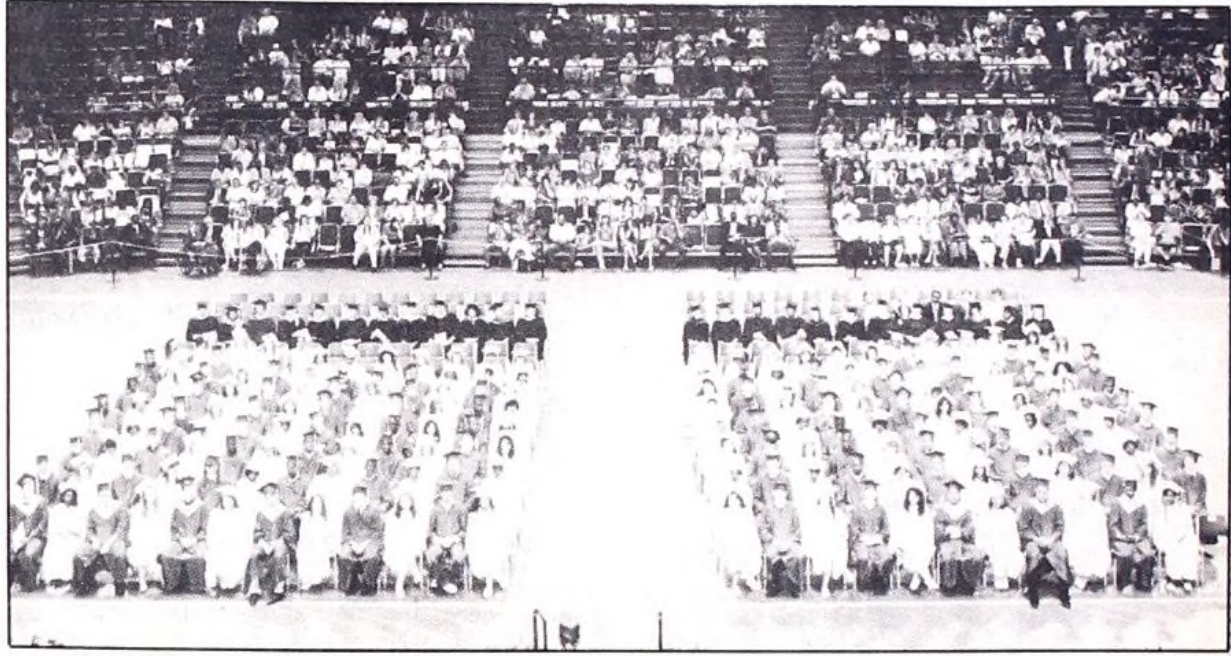

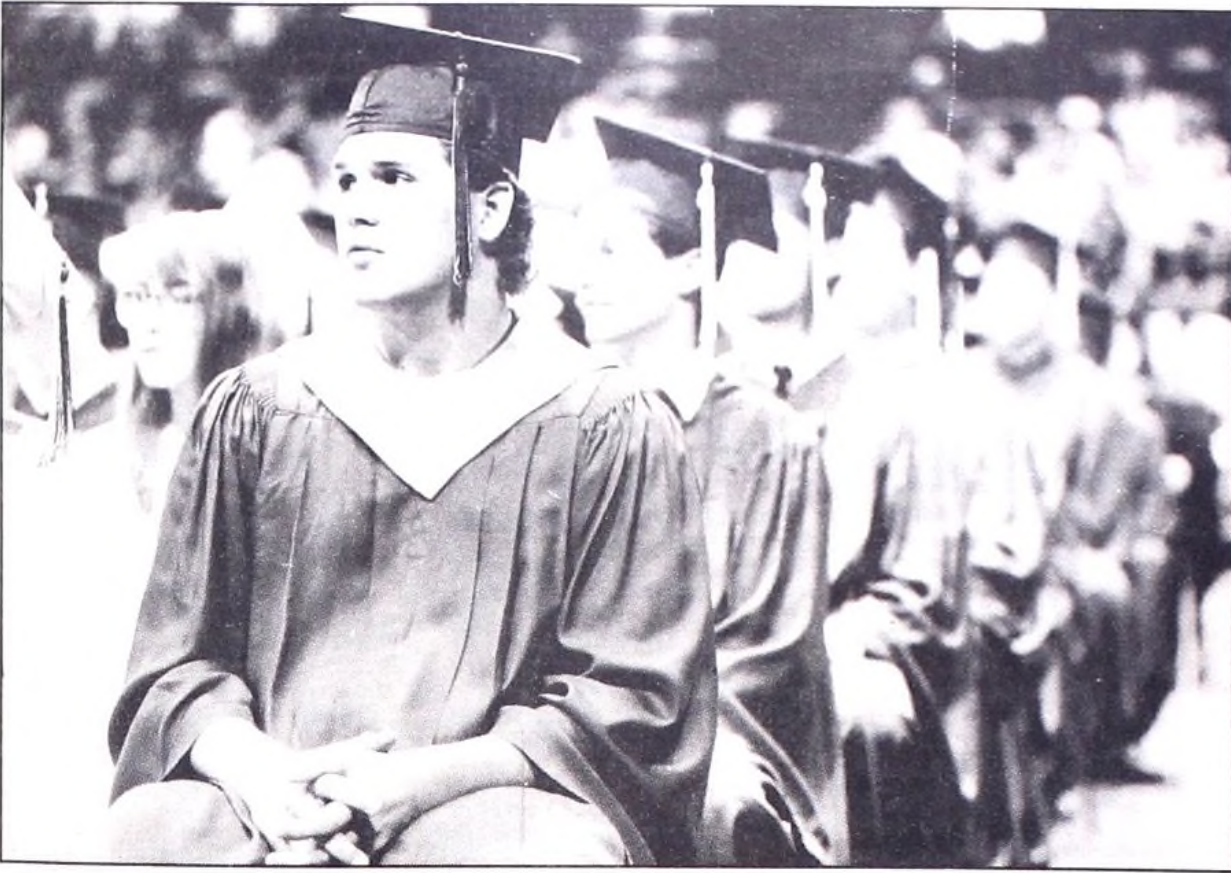

"I want to say thank you to my family, especially my Mom. She didn't teach me about algebra, but she taught me about a little thing called life."

"I want to say thank you to my fellow classmates. I know that I didn't get A's without a little help from them. They were the ones who helped me out when the going got tough."

"They were the ones who told me I should be getting A's. It was definite positive peer pressure."

"Now it is time to move on. There are going to be pot holes in the road, but we are determined. We will succeed. We are strong. I want to say whatever you do in life, do your best and have no regrets. I always told myself 'I'd rather have tried and failed than never to have tried at all.'"

"The future is ours and let all our hopes, dreams and aspirations become reality," Molenda concluded.

School band plans circus show

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

The award-winning Romulus Junior High School band will perform on the midway between the two performances of the Franzen Brothers Circus on July 7.

Mark Lewkowicz, president of the Greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce, said the band will perform various musical favorites from 6 to 7 p.m. under the direction of Director Richard Kruse.

"The band has maintained its First Division status for 13 straight years at the State Band Festival," Lewkowicz said.

This will also mark the second straight year that the Franzen Brothers Circus will entertain in Romulus under the sponsorship of the chamber.

Two 90-minute performances will be offered that day, Lewkowicz said, the first at 4:30 and the second at 7 p.m., rain or shine.

Circus tickets are priced at $5 each in advance and $6 at the tent, he said, with children under 2 admitted free.

Lewkowicz reminded residents that circus trucks will begin arriving at Senior Citizens Park about 8 a.m. About an hour later Okha the elephant will begin helping circus staff members raise the tent that will seat about 1,200 per show.

The public is invited to view this circus set-up display free of charge, Lewkowicz said. Later at 3:30 p.m. (an hour before the first performance) a petting zoo will be opened so that youngsters can pet their favorite animals.

Cost of petting zoo tickets is $1, but many free tickets have been distributed to Romulus churches, clubs and other organizations for children.

In addition, pony rides ($1 each) and elephant rides ($2 each) will begin about the same time.

Advance tickets can be obtained at most local banks and businesses, as well as City Hall (treasurer's office) and the school administration office.

the Romulus courtroom as the preliminary examination began about 2 p.m. and then were called individually to testify.

Almost in unison, the witnesses testified they had working agreements with Byrne Benson Buildings Inc. for two to 10 years and that he had a history of being a "slow payer," but usually paid his bills within 60 to 90 days.

But they said in the past year to 18 months even those late payments ceased and the non-payments have caused major economic problems for their companies.

Many of these sub-contractors have been forced to pass on their woes to the Applewood home owners, many of whom were first time buyers, in the form of liens and in some cases threats of eviction.

The largest outstanding bill for any of the sub-contractors appearing at the hearing was listed as $294,000 by Robert Pierson, president of the Pierson-Davidson Lumber Yard of Redford.

Pierson, who admitted socializing sometimes twice a year with Benson, said some of the bills dated back to 1989.

Other sub-contractors, who were owed smaller amounts, testified they provided plumb-ing, electrical, rough carpentry, masonry and carpeting products and services for Benson.

All claimed that he promised payments as soon as local economic conditions improved.

Three Applewood homeowners, Laura Coomers, Michael Peabody and Neal Golba, testified that Mary Benson attended the real estate closings on their homes and accepted checks or escrow funds for payments on their properties.

Coomers said her family's money was in an escrow account, while the other two homeowners said the checks were from local financial institutions.

An attorney for Mary Benson tried to separate her from official responsibility in the dealings, but many witnesses said she answered company phones, signed company checks and attended real estate closings on behalf of the Benson firm.

A third family member, son Gregory, was listed as superintendent of the Applewood building venture. While he was one of the Benson company officials local sub-contractors dealt with, no criminal charges were filed against him.

Romulus Detective Sgt. Dan Snyder said the pair face six-month to three-year jail terms and up to $5,000 in fines for each Romulus violation.

Benson's attorney repeatedly asked complainants if his client had paid bills in previous years, when the economy was stronger. Most admitted he had.

Permanent make-up colors faces

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

Imagine waking up in the morning or emerging from the swimming pool with your make-up neatly in tact. No more smears and smudges, no more pale, washed-out look - just a natural permanent color on your eyelids, brows and lips.

Through the skill of registered nurse Vicki Holloway, who is certified in micropigment implantation, permanent make-up can be applied to the upper and lower eyelids, eyebrows and lips of her clients.

Holloway, who is currently employed in surgical intensive care at Henry Ford Hospital, has 14 years of nursing experience.

"My husband heard about permanent make-up, and suggested that I take the training. He thought my experience in nursing would be an asset," said Holloway, a Belleville resident.

She took her dermatechnology training through the Dermablague Institute of Gadsen, Ala., which was founded and is managed by physicians and nurses, and also attended an advanced course in macro-theory dermagraphics at the American Institute of Permanent Color Technology in Los Angeles.

"About half of my clients ask for permanent eyebrows or eyeliner," said Holloway. "It's wonderful for people with allergies who can't use makeup or for people with vision problems who can't see well enough to apply make-up."

Vicki Holloway publicizes her own work with a permanent lip liner and lower eyelid liner.

"I may do the full lips later," she said, noting that her light, permanent make-up is both natural looking and a time-saver. "Colors can be as subtle or as bold as the client wants. The client and I work out a treatment plan."

It takes two to three visits to complete the permanent make-up, she said. Any time during the application, the client may opt to adjust the color to a lighter or darker shade. Lip liner, for example, can correct asymmetry and add definition and fullness to lips.

"It really is a permanent application. I saw a woman who had her make-up done 10 years ago, and it still looks very good," Holloway said.

While most of the permanent make-up requests come from women who want to enhance their appearance, some people with physical problems use the technique to repair damage caused by illness, accidents or disease.

"I am starting to work with a woman who has a harelip. I'll improve her lip line and cover the scars for her," Holloway said. "I've provided eyebrows for people who have lost their hair through disease or medical procedures. I also can cover freckles and age spots, but not warts."

Some of Holloway's work involves correcting mistakes made by untrained people. For example, one woman's lips were colored too vividly and too large by a tattoo method. In addition, a blood vessel was broken in her eyelid during the process and the color appeared to smear around the eye of the woman.

"I have before and after pictures of the woman, and I was able to give her more attractive lips and remove the 'smear' during the micropigment implantation process," said Holloway.

The technique, while not cheap, is affordable for most women, and a payment schedule can be used, Holloway said. Client may notice a bit of discomfort, but it is not a painful process.

Permanent Make-up by Vicki is available through City Slickers, 51 Fifth St., Belleville. An appointment or free consultation is available by calling 697-4247.

Riverboat cruises continue on lake

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

One of the most popular activities at Van Buren Park is the annual visit of the Princess Laura, a replica of a Mississippi riverboat which offers cruises on Belleville Lake from June 17 to 20.

"The boat offers luncheon and dinner cruises plus matinee and midnight sailings. Charter cruises for groups of 30 and up to 112 are available on some days," said Michael Long, director of the Van Buren Township parks and recreation department. "Dinner cruises feature the Captain's prime rib dinner or Chicken Cordon Bleu."

Departure for all cruises will be from Van Buren Park, located on the South Interstate-94 Service Drive.

"Tickets are available by reservation only from the Princess Laura ticket office or from the Van Buren Recreation Department in the township hall," Long said.

Lake cruises are available at the following times:

- Luncheon cruises, noon to 2 p.m., $25 per person.

- Matinee cruises, 4 to 5 p.m., $10 for adults, $5 for youngsters ages 4-12. (Special children's cruises are slated on June 12 and 13)

- Dinner cruises, 6 to 8 p.m., $30 per person.

- Midnight cruises, 9 p.m. to midnight, $15 per person.

Area voters turn thumbs down on tax reform plan

While outstate voters supported Proposal A, voters in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties turned the tide to defeat the school property tax reform package.

If the proposal had passed, it would have limited the annual assessment rate to five percent or the inflation rate, whichever is less; reduce the maximum school operating taxes to 18 non-voted mills and permit districts to levy up to nine additional mills, and increase the state sales tax to 6 percent.

In the southwestern part of the county, voters turned down Proposal A by a 58 percent or more vote.

Van Buren Township voters cast 1,584 affirmative votes and 2,210 negative votes. The proposal lost by a 58-42 percent margin.

Twenty-seven percent of the 14,168 voters in Van Buren Township cast ballots on Wednesday.

In Belleville, voters turned down Proposal A by a 449-327 vote, or a 58-42 percent margin.

In Sumpter Township, 606 voters cast affirmative votes and 1,071 cast negative votes.

Graduation ends student's visit to America

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

When Stella Prudente graduates from high school this week, she will have two sets of proud parents applauding her accomplishments.

One set, Richard and Nancy Johannnsen of Westland, will beam proudly all the time knowing they will soon say goodbye to Prudente--while the other set of ecstatic parents will rejoice in knowing they will soon take their daughter home.

Prudente, of Milan, Italy has lived with the Johannnsens of Westland for the past ten months as part of the Student Travel Services of Westland exchange student program.

And, while the family unit did experience their difficulties during Prudente's stay, all three agree that this was a worthwhile and meaningful experience.

Prudente admits to scolding Johannnsen about her smoking, particularly since her adopted "parent" is a recovering cancer patient. And, for her part, Johannnsen admits she didn't keep her disapproval of Prudente's choice of fashions to herself.

But the pair learned a great deal from each other and expect to remain friends even though they will be half a planet apart very soon.

Student Travel Services of Westland provides student exchange services for students throughout Europe to travel to the United States and live with a host family while attending the local high school and experiencing American culture.

As host parents, the Johannnsens have been responsible for Prudente's room, board and transportation. However, when taken on trips by airplane, Prudente paid the flight costs. The Johannnsens did not have to pay anything to the exchange service and received a $50-per-month tax deduction for the live-in student.

Johannnsen said she and her husband became interested in the exchange program because her brother and his wife have had six exchange students and enjoyed it.

Johannnsen said she has enjoyed the experience very much and was pleased that Prudente was such a mature young woman. Johannnsen was impressed by her mostly "A" grades in school.

"I think it's quite an accomplishment for a foreign exchange student to do so well in classes taught in a foreign language," Johannnsen said.

Prudente loves Ann Arbor and the American university life and said she hopes to be able to return to the U.S. to attend the University of Michigan.

"I will be sad to leave. I had a very exciting time," Prudente said.

Prudente said some of her most memorable experiences here include participating in the Rouge River Rescue 93' and attending jazz lessons.

Prudente said in the big city of Milan there were no opportunities to help the environment and she was pleased to participate in the clean-up.

"It was great -- I felt like I was part of a team," she said.

Prudente said when she first came to the U.S. she could not communicate very well and jazz gave her that ability.

"I felt like I was communicating to people even though I didn't know the language," Prudente said.

Johannnsen said she really enjoyed the experience and would recommend it to anyone.

"I thought it would be exciting to have a young person around," Johannnsen said.

Stella Prudente enjoyed her senior prom with date Philip Overman.

Man sentenced on armed robbery charges

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

A Wayne resident received a five-to-15-year prison sentence on armed robbery charges June 10 before Detroit Wayne County Recorder's Court Judge M. John Shamo.

Jason Will, 19, took money, jewelry and beepers from various individuals 11:30 p.m. March 15 at George's Fun Center parking lot in Wayne, 35501 west Michigan Ave.

He was assisted by Patrick Williams, 22, of Wayne, who received a four-to-15-year prison sentence on armed robbery charges May 26.

A July 14 final conference has been scheduled for the third defendant in the incident, Cory Nash, 19.

All three suspects appeared for an examination April 5 before 29th District Court Judge Carolyn Archbold. A $1,000 bond was set for Nash, and Will and Williams each received a $5,000 bond.

Williams was also charged with felony firearm, according to Wayne police Lt. Mel Drews.

The Wayne residents were arraigned before Judge Gail McKnight in an out-county court.

Wayne police arrested Williams on a second armed robbery incident which occurred 9:45 p.m. March 23 at George's Fun Center. He was charged with armed robbery on the March 23 incident, and a $10,000 cash bond was set.

All the arrests were a result of an investigation conducted by Wayne police Sgt. Chris Johnson and Sgt. Bob McIntyre, according to Drews.

Opinion

All that glitters

When the financial failure of a Massachusetts-based travel agency was announced last week, sympathy poured out for the students across the country who lost some $10 million for deposits and pre-paid travel fares.

Of particular concern to us are the 19 Belleville High School students whose plans to spend two weeks in France are in jeopardy. Many of those students worked in weekend and after-school jobs to earn their travel money. Now, as the departure date is almost here, reports have surfaced that the company president has left the country and the Belleville youths are in a "travel limbo" that they share with hundreds of other clients of the Massachusetts-based travel agency.

The incident has prompted Congressman William Ford D-13 to request that Attorney General Janet Reno launch an investigation.

Ford noted that, as chairman of the Education and Labor committees, he is particularly sensitive to anything which could undermine the thirst of young people for learning. In his request for the investigation, Ford said that he takes "particular offense at his situation, where students seeking to further their studies have been treated so shabbily."

We agree with Congressman Ford's stance and we support his request for an investigation.

In addition, we believe this incident once again points out the need for residents of the community to support their hometown businesses - those who are members of the local chambers of commerce and who live, work and pay taxes in their community. We believe that only a little effort on the part of trip organizers would have revealed a number of western Wayne County travel agencies which could have provided the same service at a comparable price.

We hear comments from local business owners who say that they are often passed by when residents purchase goods and services, but never ignored when there are collections taken for school- or community- related programs.

While supporting local business people because they support the community is not the only reason that residents should seek out their area merchants and professional people, it is a valid reason. The other reason, obviously, is that in the event of concerns or problems about the goods or services, you can step into their store or office and discuss your concerns face-to-face.

Our deepest sympathy

Last week, a high-speed police chase ended in death. An innocent man was killed when a motorist attempting to elude police crashed into the vehicle in which he was a passenger, injuring the driver and causing death.

This isn't the first time such a tragedy has occurred, nor we fear will it be the last.

His family has our deepest and most heartfelt sympathy—as do the police officers involved in the situation and the family and friends of the injured party. We have very little sympathy, however, for the man who reportedly is to blame for the situation.

That's the man who took off at a high rate of speed and raced officers of the law through several municipalities attempting to elude capture. Now, whatever his reasons for his action may have been, they seem minor compared to the fact that he took a life. Senselessly and needlessly, a life was lost because he chose to attempt to elude police officers attempting to do their jobs.

These officers had no idea who they might be pursuing or why this individual chose to flee. What did he have to hide? Did he have a hostage or a victim in the back seat or the trunk? Was he armed?

They didn't know. They only knew that they could be dealing with a guy driving on a suspended license or another Jeffrey Dahmer with his latest victim in the trunk.

They pursued him as good police procedure dictates. And if they hadn't? If they had just let him drive away? What kind of message would that send to the rest of society? You only have to obey police officers who stop you if you feel like it?

We have no tolerance for the foolish, careless and heedless actions of the individual who caused this heartbreaking death and caused this loss of life.

And we are well aware that it easily could have been one of the pursuing officers whose life was lost.

So, we're very sure, are they.

Attorney blasts new no-fault law

To the editor:

It is no secret that auto insurance premiums are high and unaffordable for many people. The cost of health care has risen, hence medical payments from auto accidents have risen. New cars cost more, therefore their replacement cost and repair costs are higher.

The insurance industry has expended substantial resources in an effort to sell their prescription for no-fault reform. The blame catastrophic claims and an alleged litigation explosion for high insurance premiums.

Insurance companies are permitted by law to make a profit by assuming risks for their insured. The premiums they charge are supposed to reflect their degree of risk. The no-fault law specifies who is responsible for losses directly caused by an accident.

Last year Proposal D was promoted by the state's largest insurer, a company that controls some 25 percent of the auto insurance market, to "reform" the no-fault law. Reform in this instance is simply reassigning the risks of loss. Proposal D was soundly defeated by the voters in November.

This year our legislators have passed a new no-fault reform law. Lawyers argue that it is Proposal D with a new hat. The insurance industry says it is substantially different than Proposal D. The voters had no say in this law.

The Michigan no-fault law requires an injured person to suffer "permanent disfigurement" or "serious impairment of a bodily function" before an injured person can collect one cent of pain and suffering compensation. This determination, to date, has been made on a case-by-case basis by a jury of your peers.

One key change in the new law takes the threshold injury determination away from a jury of your peers and gives it to an elected judge. Apparently, the insurance industry is gambling that they will have better luck lobbying elected judges to rule in their favor than they have had with juries or with the voters last fall.

What is the practical effect of this change? As an attorney who represents persons injured in automobile accidents by the negligence of others, I firmly believe that the courts should be used as a last resort to resolve a legal claim, rather than a first resort. Previously, I had good success in negotiating pre-litigation settlements with insurers by virtue of demonstrating to the insurer, with an analysis of the facts and the law, how it was in their interest to settle a claim.

LETTERS

Pre-litigation settlements eliminate the cost of litigation and the risk of exposure to an unfavorable jury verdict. The client benefits by receiving a sum certain and avoids the stress and inconvenience of a trial. The taxpayers benefit by having one less dispute clutter up the court docket because reasonable minds could find enough common ground to resolve the dispute.

The following are two examples of claims that I have submitted to the state's largest insurer on behalf of injured persons since the no-fault law was recently "reformed." I believe the responses represent a policy change by the insurer that will negatively impact a great number of people.

1. A vehicle driven by my client was struck from behind on a freeway, in broad daylight, by a drunk driver. My client suffered a severe whiplash injury and has lost over 20 weeks of work time, to date.

2. My client was a passenger in a vehicle which was struck from behind. My client had a pre-existing spinal laminectomy. My client suffered whiplash and bulging disc in the mid-back that required a surgical procedure to dissolve the bulging disc, as a result of the car crash. My client has undergone many weeks of physical therapy.

In both instances the insurer was advised of the claim and the injured person's willingness to discuss an out of court settlement. In both instances the insurer sent rejection letter, before receiving the full medical records or a settlement demand, saying the injuries were not severe enough. The adjusters told me that "soft tissue injuries only" cannot by definition meet the threshold criteria, hence they will pay nothing.

I believe this response reflects more than a simple ignorance of the unman anatomy. It is a policy decision by an insurer with a large market share to eliminate a whole class of serious injuries as claims. My clients can either drop their claims, or file a lawsuit. Either way the insurer stands to gain. Either they pay nothing for the claims or they can point to the lawsuits, regardless of the outcome, to bolster their claims to the public if a litigation explosion. The insurance business is surely more profitable when insurers don't pay claims, but continue to collect premiums.

Do the people of Michigan want to be exposed to these additional risks? Will the promised premium savings justify the additional exposure? Are insureds getting what they have paid for?

Attorney at Law

Mayor's task force criticized

To the editor:

Mayor Thomas announcement of a task force to combat drug abuse is a great political move in this intensive election year. It is truly in keeping with the nature of Mr. Thomas' tenure as mayor to do nothing unless it is politically expedient.

Please don't get me wrong. We certainly should do everything we can to combat drug abuse, but let's take a closer look at the plan as explicated.

1. "Seek state legislation giving a 5 percent reduction in workmen's compensation premiums to businesses certified as drug-free workplaces."

One may always certainly seek but not necessarily find. The workmen's compensation program covers a great deal more than drug abuse. To insinuate that people on workmen's compensation are there due to drug abuse is irresponsible. As a Taxpayer Service Specialist with the IRS, I meet a great number of people that need help because of workmen's compensation. These people are usually in that situation due to unsafe working conditions or inadequate safety precautions, not drug abuse. Further, who will do the certifying? Mr. Thomas? The state, which doesn't even have the funding for its current programs? The federal government? This is not a haircut on a tarmac or a pizza party in the White House, Mr. Thomas. This is a serious issue which I have been involved in combating since 1967. The roots of drug abuse are many and have to be dealt with on a case-by-case basis. More red tape and government involvement in the private affairs of individuals and business is never the answer.

2. "Develop a Westland resource book to inform parents about various drugs, their effects and where to find help for drug and alcohol abuse."

This is not new. These books already exist. The fact that the City of Westland has not put together or sponsored a guide is a shame of the Thomas administration. The only way the currently available material could be improved upon is if Mr. Thomas employed the drug dealers themselves to provide the inside information.

3. "Establish parent support groups."

Surprise, surprise, Mr. Thomas, these already exist.

4. "Enforce a residential party ordinance that would 'strengthen the home'."

"Enforce a residential party ordinance"? House police? Mr. Thomas, you cannot establish a value system by law. It didn't work in the former Soviet Union. It didn't work in Nazi Germany, and we certainly don't want it in Westland. Family values, cultural values, are indicative of each family's heritage and are something to be proud of. Who are you to say what kind of a party I can or cannot have? As long as individual freedom does not impinge upon the right of others, it is to be tolerated in a free society.

5. "Feature a monthly cable television program to inform viewers about Youth Assistance, the Community Commission on Drug Abuse and other organizations that combat drug and alcohol abuse."

Where have you been? That is what public service television is all about. It is to be used to provide a public service to the viewers (hence the phrase "public service television") not for personal propaganda to get re-elected. If you wish to see some of these programs, turn on your TV. If you want better more responsible programming, view a different cable service.

6. "Encourage neighborhood block clubs to discourage drug and alcohol use and establish a neighborhood youth activity center."

What do you think the neighborhood block clubs are doing now, promoting it? The problem is not with the block clubs, but with the unresponsiveness of your own administration. I have talked to many people that have proffered these comments. One lady repeatedly reported a large drug dealer, but when did you send the police? Six o'clock.

7. "Promote a substance abuse curriculum in local schools and offer awards, pennants and trophies to students who get involved."

A trophy or pennant for learning about drugs. I find it difficult to fathom a John Glenn honor student calling someone to his or her locker to show off the anti-drug trophy. A responsible substance abuse curriculum is something admirable though. That's a good thought. Banners that declare "Drug Free and Proud" and trophies are an insult to the intelligence of high school students. These kids are much smarter than you think and unless you give them the straight facts from the start and trust them to make the intelligent decisions they are capable of, your program is doomed from the start.

One "minor" factor you left out. Money. How is this to be financed? From the money that should go to libraries, or roads, or water and sewers?

Sweet summertime

Sunshine and warm weather can mean only one thing to true connoisseurs of summertime...ice cream. And in the tradition of the season, area residents flocked to their favorite suppliers to get that first taste of summertime. Brian Manning, 3, of Wayne loves vanilla, as do most real gourmets while at left Kile Cartwright, 9, Mike Lang, 10 and Brad Squelch, 9, all of Belleville are convinced that cherry is the best flavor of all. ANP photo by DiVizio

Mike Jacobs, 4, of Canton Township is another real expert when it comes to ice cream flavors--his choice is vanilla, absolutely. ANP photo by DiVizio

Unfinished business

Glenn seeks to complete baseball mission Rockets began last year

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

As of Tuesday, the Westland John Glenn baseball season comes down to three more victories.

Three more - two if coach Norm Hoenes and the Rockets managed to shoot down Southgate Anderson on Tuesday - will give the Westlanders their first Class A state baseball championship ever.

Glenn earned a berth on the elite Sweet 8 Saturday for the second consecutive year by carving out a 1-0 victory over a strong Brighton squad behind pitcher Aaron Scheffer's best

"We have tournament experience. But, in this business you never know. Look at what happened to Catholic Central. We thought we would be playing them in the quarter-finals, and they were ousted by a team that had a so-so record this year."

performance of the season.

Scheffer's sparkling three-hit gem came in the semifinal round of the Class A regional playoffs staged at Canton High School. That victory, coupled by the Plymouth-Salem 7-5 triumph over Ann Arbor Pioneer, set up an all-area and Western Lakes Conference championship.

The back-to-back regional titles - they have now won three regionals in the past five years - give Glenn a key ingredient in their bid for the state crown.

"We have tournament experience," said Glenn coach Norm Hoenes. "But, in this business you never know. Look at what happened to Catholic Central. We thought we would be playing them in the quarter-finals, and they were ousted by a team that had a so-so record this year."

Although Glenn and Southgate Anderson have not met during the course of the regular season, Hoenes noted that "Southgate has a tradition of producing some outstanding teams and players."

"You got to respect teams that get this far."

The survivor of the Tuesday quarterfinals will advance to Grand Rapids to play on Friday in the semifinals. The state championship will be determined on Saturday.

Scheffer, a 6-1, 175-pound all-around athlete, was superb against Brighton, a team that marched into the semis with an impressive 28-3 record. After giving up a first-pitch of the game double to Dave Peazey, the Rocket hurler settled down and retired the side.

Brighton also threatened in the fourth when losing pitcher Tom Hoesberger drilled a single off of Scheffer, then stole second. Scheffer then proceeded to strike out the side.

five-run cushion. Salem is that kind of team - it is well-coached and could explode at any time or minute."

Salem did draw first blood. The Rocks scored in the first inning as Bryan Zarosely walked, stole second and advanced to third when Charlie Wenstel collected a sacrifice fly off of southpaw Brian Besco.

Besco also gave up a run in the top of the fourth when Winstel made it all the way to third on a single and error, then scored on Dave Knight base hit. But the Glenn southpaw, who took an 8-1 record into Tuesday game, went on to gather goose eggs the rest of the day.

Besco's teammates erased the 1-0 first-inning deficit in the opening inning thanks to Bryan's twin brother, Derek, who hammered his sixth

Van Buren Typhoons capture state title

Putting together an impressive string of five victories against some of the best age-group soccer players in the state, the Van Buren Typhoons U-14 boys soccer team captured the coveted Michigan State Soccer Cup.

The soccer cup is symbolic of the No. 1 age group team in Michigan.

Competing in Midland, the Typhoons received outstanding performances from team members Tate Travis, Zach Wilkinson, Jason Viers and Jason Bennett. They chalked up the five successive victories to win the cup and also qualify to compete for the regional championship.

The soccer cup is symbolic of the No. 1 age group team in Michigan.

The regionals will be conducted June 26-28 in Springfield, Missouri where some 13 states will be represented.

In their bid for the Michigan Cup, the Van Buren kickers disposed of Warren Express and the Sterling Heights Knights by identical 9-0 scores. They also won a 3-1 decision over Capital City, a team out of Lansing. The victory was the Van Buren ticket to the final four in Midland.

In Midland, coach Dale Travis' club claimed a hard-fought 2-0 verdict over the Troy Arsenal to reach the championship round where they found a strong-spirited and talented team in Vardar.

In the duel for the cup, the Typhoons managed to come away with a close 1-0 victory thanks to Seth Heinrich who booted in the winning goal with only four minutes to go in the second overtime period.

In the meantime, the Typhoons are also currently in first place in the Little Caesar's League. They sport a 7-1-1 record after breezing through a fall campaign with an untarnished 9-0 mark.

Travis said that he and his coaching staff continue to seek players for their team. The Typhoons have scheduled tryouts for June 21 and July 1 at North Junior High School in Belleville. The tryouts will be conducted from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. North Junior High School is located on Beck Road, off the I-94 north service drive between Rawsonville and Belleville roads.

Players born between Aug. 1, 1978 and Aug. 1, 1979 are eligible to try out for the team. For more information, please contact coach Travis at 941-5479 or Dale Bullock.

Canton relief pitcher Marion is selected to All-American team

Todd Marion, one of the top ball players to come out of the Plymouth-Canton schools in recent years, was named to Collegiate Baseball All-American Third Team as a relief pitcher.

Marion, who is a senior co-captain for the University of Michigan, is the career save leader in Michigan and in the Big 10 Conference. He chalked up 32 saves to rank in a tie for fourth-place in the NCAA record book.

The senior hurler is the second Wolverine to earn All-American honors under head coach Bill Freehan. The last Michigan All-American was third baseman Tim Flannely, who was a second team selection in 1990.

Marion becomes the first pitcher to earn All Big 10 First Team honors as a relief pitcher. Incidentally, this happens to be the first year that the conference has recognized relief pitchers on the all-league team.

Marion owns the Michigan and Big 10 Conference record

Todd Marion
All-American

with 106. That's the eighth best in the NCAA record book. He accounted for 36 percent of the Michigan victories in the past four years with nine wins and 32 saves (41 of 113 wins). He also converted 32 of 38 save opportunities in his career for a .842 average.

Marion, recipient of the Geoff Zahn Award as the Michigan Most Valuable Pitcher, was 2-2 in 1993 with a team-leading 1.14 earned run average and eight saves.

One of Marion's former rivals, Jerry Koester of Westland John Glenn fame, was one of four NAIA District 23 players who was also named to the NAIA All-Area VI team.

Koester, only the second Siena Heights College player in the school history to be named to the team, is eligible for the NAIA All-American team which will be announced sometime this month.

In his first season at Siena Heights College after transferring from Henry Ford Community College, Koester broke single-season records for batting (.413), hits (95), runs scored (59) and stolen bases (40-46).

Koester was joined on the All-District Team by junior first baseman Mike Giacomantonio.

Jarrod Hura of John Glenn (above) rushes home with what proves to be the decisive run in a 1-0 game with Brighton on Saturday. It was Mike Bint's game-winning single in the bottom of the second that sealed the victory for the Westlanders in the semifinals. Glenn was scheduled to play Tuesday against Southgate Anderson, a team that finished in the middle of the pack in the Wolverine "A" Conference. The survivor of the quarterfinal matchup will pack up their gear and head for Grand Rapids on Friday to play in the state semifinals. ANP photo by DiVizio

"Hoenes admitted he was 'nervous playing Salem again.'"

By winning the state title in soccer, the Van Buren Typhoons proved they are the best in Michigan in their age group. Now the Typhoons want to duplicate that feat nationally with a lineup that includes: Scott Babinski (standing, from left), Jim Bullock, Brett Konley, Andres Lopez, Darin Thompson, Jason Bennett, Zach Wilkinson, Jacob Rea and Jason Roy; kneeling are Typhoons Matt Smith, Tate Travis, Chad Doan, Mike Minicilli and Seth Heinrich; also pictured are coaches Dale Travis (seated from left), Derek Williford and Lamar Peters. ## Westland Athletic Association registers for football season

Westland Youth Athletic Association (WYAA) officials are getting ready for the 1993 football campaign. They are seeking players for their two organizations - the Meteors and Comets.

The WYAA has set aside three days to register prospective players, who may sign up from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. June 19 and 26 and also register from 8 p.m. until 10 p.m. June 23.

Applications will be accepted at the Lange Compound, 6050 Farmington Road. Placement on squads will depend upon age and weight. The Meteors and Comets will field three teams each in the 8-10 age group (freshmen); 11-12 (junior varsity) and 12-14 year olds (varsity), WYAA officials stated.

Wayne sets dates for cage

If you want to be an professional cage pro, you got to start young.

And the way to start is at a basketball camp.

Wayne Memorial coach Chuck Henry, Associated Newspapers' Coach of the Year last season will host a summer basketball camp for players who attend the Wayne-Westland schools.

The camp is designed to teach the fundamentals of the game to pupils and students in grades four through 12, noted the veteran coach.

"Last year we had an excellent turnout," Henry added. "We like to combine work with play. Those who have participated in the camp in the past have enjoyed taking part."

The first session, for grades nine through 12, will be conducted from June 28 to July 2. The two-hour drills begin at noon and end at 2 p.m. There is a $25 registration fee.

The second session is scheduled for June 28 and will go to July 2. Again, the two-hour practice begins at noon, and registration fees are $25.

Henry stressed that each session will include instructions and demonstration of basketball skills. All camp participants will receive a tee-shirt and there will be special awards and competition at the end of each camp session.

Applicants are urged to sign up by mailing their intent to participant and a $25 check to coach Chuck Henry. Mail the check to Wayne Summer Basketball Camp, 1927 Treadwell, Westland, Mich. 48185.

For further information, telephone 729-8022.

We never understand how little we need in this world until we know the loss of it.

All-American

Kathy Farrell

Kathy Farrell, a 1990 Wayne Memorial swimming ace, earned All-American recognition as a member of Whitman College relay teams.

A junior, Farrell swam on all four of her college relay teams, however, her performance on the 200-yard medley relay which she anchored earned her and her teammates a berth in the coveted All-American lineup.

Special pre-school moves to Westland

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

Co-operation is a skill taught very early in life. And last Saturday, the staff of McKinley Cooperative Preschool invited parents and children in the area to discover the benefits provided by a cooperative education.

The cooperative preschool is located at Good Shepherd Reformed Church at 6500 N. Wayne Road in Westland. McKinley is the only cooperative preschool located in Westland, class representative Becky Steckroth said.

Classes are offered for children ages 2, 3 and 4 years of age and parents participate directly in their children's educations by accompanying students to school.

McKinley Preschool was located in Livonia for 19 years, but recently moved due to the lack of classroom space in the Livonia district, spokesperson Ann Katopodis said. McKinley relocated to Westland after realizing the need for a cooperative preschool in the area, she added.

dren and help in the instructing process by following teacher directions, membership chairperson Randy Harder said. Parents with 3 and 4-year-olds attend the classes once or twice month, so there are always two or three parents to aid in instruction, Harder said.

Harder recommended that parents who are concerned with their youngster's education come to McKinley. Instructors at McKinley stress child cooperation and social skills, Harder said.

Classes will begin in the fall and are offered Monday and Wednesday for 4-year-olds, Tuesdays and Thursdays for 3-year-olds and parents and tots meet Friday mornings. For further information contact Ann Katopodis at 427-2238.

Pre-trial hearing set in shooting

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

A 19-year-old Westland man was bound over for a pre-trial hearing last Wednesday on charges that he and an unapprehended gunman fired shots at a car occupied by several people in Romulus last month.

The defendant, Willie Williams, was identified by several witnesses, despite the fact that he reportedly wore a black ski mask during part of the shooting attack in the area of Middlebelt and Van Born roads about 7:30 p.m. May 29.

One witness, identified as Kareem Davis, displayed a bright orange baseball style cap with several bullet holes in it.

Witnesses said the unapprehended gunman and several men in the second car had an argument days before about the whereabouts of a pager and the argument then escalated to an altercation.

Davis said the slugs grazed his head, but he was otherwise uninjured.

Another witness, Carlos

He was positive one of the gunmen was Williams, even though both men at one point donned the dark ski masks.

Smith, said he was positive one of the gunmen was Williams, even though both men at one point donned the dark ski masks.

While one or two witnesses could not positively identify Williams, Assistant Wayne County Prosecutor Curtis Smith said other witnesses will be called later in the procedures.

Thirty-fourth District Court Judge Henry Zaborowski sent the case to the Frank Murphy Hall of Justice to be heard June 23. Cash bail of $30,000 was continued.

Salvation Army names new general

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

The election of Canadian Bramwell H. Tillsley to lead the international efforts of the Salvation Army will have a positive impact on Salvation Army growth in Michigan, Lt. Col. Clarence W. Harvey said today.

Tillsley will assume the top office of the worldwide group July 9, as current Gen. Eva Burrows, only the second woman in the history of the organization to hold the title, retires.

The general's international office continues to be in London, England.

Burrows, who became known as the "People's General" because of her personal visits to needy people around the world, was active with the Salvation Army in Australia prior to her appointment as general.

During her tenure, numerous growth projects were begun by the Salvation Army in western Wayne County, including the Norwayne Corps, and also the creation of a new Men's Rehabilitation Center in Romulus following the buyout of current Salvation Army property on Goddard Road by Detroit Metro Airport.

Harvey, who heads the Eastern Michigan Division of the Salvation Army, reports that Tillsley will continue that style of inner city and suburban effort that is so critically needed in these tough economic times.

He also will "encourage a spiritual renewal" for all involved in the Army.

It will be full speed ahead for the $1 million Norwayne Corps headquarters in Westland later this year, Harvey said. At the present time the corps offices are located in a cramped storefront area on Venoy Road. The new headquarters including a gymnasium will be constructed directly across the street later this year.

During the long election process earlier this year, Tillsley spoke passionately before the army high council on his commitment to the commonality of goals throughout the 98 countries where the Salvation Army now serves.

Tillsley grew up in a Salvation Army family and his parents named him Bramwell in honor of the eldest son of the army founder, William Booth. Bramwell Booth also served as general from 1912 to 1929.

Tillsley and his wife, Maude, both grew up in eastern Canada. Two of their three children currently serve as Salvation Army officers.

Traveler is robbed

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

An out-of-state man was robbed Tuesday while waiting at a stop light on Inkster Road just north of Van Born Road, Westland police said.

A 30-year-old Ohio man was stopped at the Inkster/Van Born intersection when two men in a small, dark blue car pulled up beside the victim, exited the car and approached the victim's vehicle, police said.

One suspect produced a three-inch knife and pressed it against the victim's throat demanding money and threatening to kill him, police said.

The victim gave the attacker his wallet containing $700, police said, and the subject reached into the victim's car and took two 12-inch speakers, valued at $350.

The two subjects got back inside their vehicle and the second suspect threw the empty wallet out the window. The subjects fled northbound on Inkster Road, police said.

The victim, who was traveling to Flat Rock, was coming from work with his 2-year-old son. He reported a license plate number to police.

The driver is described as a 6-foot tall black male of medium build wearing dark clothes. The passenger is described as a black male in his early 20's, about 5-feet, 10-inches tall also wearing dark clothes.

HOW TO BECOME YOUR OWN LANDLORD

How much do you pay each month in rent? Chances are, with today's interest rates, you could buy a home and have about the same monthly payment.

Our mortgages are fast and affordable. And we'll work with you to come up with a payment that's not too far from what you're paying now.

With new programs available from the Federal Housing Administration and the Michigan State Housing Development Authority, you may qualify for low down payments, special reduced interest rates and low monthly payments.

Through federal and state financing programs, First of America can now offer more kinds of mortgages to low-and moderate-income families and first time buyers.

For more information about FHA, MSHDA and our other loans, call us at 281-5241 or stop by any one of our convenient locations.

Pumping them up

Local chiropractor speaks to bodybuilders' convention

By CRAIG GARRETT
ANP Staff Writer

He just wanted to pump...them up.

Dr. James Gregg, director of the Gregg Chiropractic Life Center in Garden City and president of the International Chiropractors Association (ICA), was a featured speaker at a natural-health bodybuilding symposium highlighting 400 physicians and professional weightlifters, plus actor and former world bodybuilding champion Arnold Schwarzenegger.

Staged recently at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Columbus, Ohio, the event ran in conjunction with the Arnold Classic, a world bodybuilding championship, and strongly promoted steroid-free athletes, primarily bodybuilders, who alleged abuse steroids to the tune of millions of dollars per year. "Arnold Schwarzenegger has learned through the years," Gregg said, "the benefits of chiropractic care for those working out or training for competition. And because I'm the ICA president, he asked me to speak on natural health topics."

The ICA, Gregg said, has closely been associated with athletes for years often traveling with U.S. Olympic teams. Only in the last several years has the general public accepted chiropractors, although a huge sub-culture had known the benefits of chiropractic care essentially since the beginning of time, Gregg added. "Most people think we're back doctors," the 21-year veteran said. "That's partially true because we spend most of the time working on backs, but that's where the nervous system is. It's sort of the master control system—when something goes wrong (physically) that's the first place to look."

Gregg said the educational symposium was designed to teach doctors and other health professionals the benefits of chiropractic and the extreme dangers of steroids, Gregg said, that are only starting to surface.

"We're seeing brain tumors (ie: former professional football player Lyle Alzado), destroyed livers and accentuated facial features," Gregg said. "Remember that your liver is the body's filtering mechanism, you lose that and you're dead."

"We're saying that with muscles under control, through the nervous system," Gregg added, "athletes can perform at optimum levels. The potential is unlimited. It's a different way to approach a tremendous profession."

6 named to board

Several local women were named to the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council Board of Directors at the annual council meeting in May.

New board members are Yvette Ihlenfeldt of Belleville, Peggy Seery of Canton Township, Verna George of Canton Township, Karen McLaurin of Westland, Cathy Sayre of Westland and Elysia Rodriguez of Westland.

Other newly elected board members are Jan Teer, Patricia Horne-McGee, Virginia Klein, Bonnie Carre, Amelia Chan, Elizabeth Cox, William

Crim, Sara Hodges, Helen Oliver, William Thompson, Dennis Urlick, Ursula Christian, Dennis Siegner, Sara Jeffries, Jennifer Keckeissen, Megan Reece, Rebecca Regner and Kate Wittekindt.

The Huron Valley Girl Scout Council is one of 333 councils chartered by the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A., and is charged with the responsibility of administering Scouting in western Wayne, Monroe, Washtenaw and Livingston counties. Its membership consists of more than 4,000 adult members and serves more than 13,000 girls.

FOOD LOVERS DIET

To introduce a new approach to dieting, free diet pills were given to 50 people. With The Omicron Diet, one man lost 14 pounds in 5 days and one woman lost 18 pounds in 10 days. The average weight loss was over a pound a day for women and over 2 pounds a day for men. The Omicron Diet is a revolutionary new concept for unbelievably fast weight loss developed and clinically proven by National Dietary Research of Washington, D.C. This significant breakthrough in metabolic weight control was made possible by the utilization of biological information overlooked by other diet programs. With a formulation of natural enzymes along with real food, you shed unwanted pounds extremely rapidly and safely. Now available:

Change for the better

Next Wednesday, many of our local subscribers will receive what we hope is a pleasant surprise.

All the Associated Newspapers publications will arrive on Wednesday, a day ahead of the usual schedule.

Deadlines for classified advertising (729-3300) have been moved to 3 p.m. Monday for the Wednesday edition.

Newsroom deadlines will remain as they have in an effort to accommodate the needs of our subscribers, although advertising deadlines have been moved a few hours to accommodate this change.

We are making this change in an effort to bring the news of the community to local residents sooner, and provide more time between our mid-week and Sunday editions.

We hope our readers and advertisers enjoy this positive change and find more time to enjoy both publications.

Of Note

Final conference is scheduled for suspects

A June 25 final conference has been scheduled for a Westland man and a Taylor woman on armed robbery charges before Detroit Wayne County Recorder's Court Judge Beverly Ann Jasper.

John Ray Davis, 41, from Westland, and Tina Longo (alias Dawn Davis) from Taylor, allegedly robbed the Tubs and Tumblers in Wayne at 12:45 a.m. April 19, according to Wayne police Lt. Mel Drews.

Both suspects were arraigned May 5 in the 29th District Court on charges of armed robbery.

"They took cash from the night clerk at gun point," Drews said. "They were arrested by the Michigan State Police. Other police departments including Canton and Taylor have armed robbery charges pending for them."

Longo received a $100,000 cash bond, and Davis received a $200,000 cash bond. Drews said Davis has a lengthy criminal record including armed robbery and has already spent several years in prison on previous armed robbery convictions.

Jury trial is scheduled for Inkster man

An Oct. 27 jury trial has been scheduled for an Inkster man charged with armed robbery before Detroit Wayne County Recorder's Court Judge Warfield Moore Jr.

Jovan Claybron, 18, allegedly took an unknown amount of money at gun point from a clerk at a 7-11 Food Store in Wayne, 32324 Annapolis, at 12:20 a.m. March 26, according to Wayne police Lt. Mel Drews.

"He was arraigned April 2, and a not-guilty plea was entered," Drews said. "A $25,000 cash bond was set."

Claybron appeared for an examination April 14 before 29th District Court Judge Carolyn Archbold, and the $25,000 cash bond was reduced to $10,000 or 10 percent.

Wayne man to appear for sentencing

A July 12 sentencing has been scheduled for a Wayne man charged with assault with a dangerous weapon before Detroit Wayne County Recorder's Court Judge Harvey Tennen.

James Brock, 22, was despondent over losing his job, and he pointed a gun at his girlfriend at 8 p.m. March 16 at his home on Hayes Street, according to Wayne police Lt. Mel Drews.

"He was arraigned March 31, and a not-guilty plea was entered," Drews said. "At the April 12 examination, a $15,000 bond was set or 10 percent."

No injuries occurred during the incident. Brock released his girlfriend to police before the arrest took place.

Road closed

Smith Road in Romulus, between Merriman and Middlebelt Roads, has been closed to normal public traffic while summer construction work is under way, according to a Romulus Police Department spokesman.

Only local residents and emergency vehicles will be allowed to travel on Smith Road.

Police nab 22 during prostitution sting

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

Want to play, gotta pay.

The Wayne Police Department sent out a strong message last week that prostitution in the community which has been a hindrance to business owners and residents will not be tolerated.

During a two-day sting operation in conjunction with Westland police, Wayne officers arrested 22 individuals for accosting and soliciting, according to Wayne police Lt. Mel Drews.

"The arrests occurred between June 15 and 16," Drews said. "We also seized 21 vehicles. All the individuals arrested were given notices of seizure. They will have to work with Wayne County to get their vehicles back."

Accosting and soliciting is a 90-day misdemeanor. The defendants will each have to pay $852 to retrieve their vehicle from Wayne County.

Drews said prostitution is constant in the area from Dearborn Street to Gloria in Wayne. Two undercover Westland police officers portrayed prostitutes near Venoy and Michigan Avenue during the two-day operation.

As each car or van pulled into the designated parking lot, the undercover officers asked what the individual wanted. Some requested oral sex acts while others wanted to know what the undercover officer had to offer.

"Prostitution is a constant thing in this town as well as in other communities and states throughout the country," Drews said. "We're tired of it. We're going to end it. If they want to play, they're going to have to pay."

Once the individual told the undercover officer what they wanted and how much they would pay, she signaled Wayne-Westland officers who surrounded the defendant's vehicle within a matter of seconds.

"It's like a triangle with prostitution," Drews said. "You have the individ-

Former resident accused of child pornography

By CRAIG GARRETT
ANP Staff Writer

Gary Stephen Greenwell, a 34-year-old former Westland resident, will be arraigned tomorrow on three charges of first-degree criminal sexual conduct (CSC) in Washtenaw County 14 A-1 District Court.

The 1976 John Glenn High School graduate was initially arrested May 26 for allegedly assaulting a business associate's 9-year-old son. A district magistrate later ordered Greenwell held on a $1 million bond when sheriff's deputies discovered boxes of sexually explicit home-made child pornography, plus 59 bags of marijuana, marijuana plants and 100 LSD tablets in his Superior Township home.

Sheriff's investigators are sorting through some 1,700 video cassettes to determine if and exactly how many children may have been molested in Greenwell's home, Sgt. Brian Miller of the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, said.

"We're seriously viewing some tapes right now," Miller said Thursday. "We're probably about one-third through. I'd say this man (Greenwell) appears to be a serious pedophile."

Greenwell, a successful executive producer with the Bloomfield Hills-based Ross Roy advertising firm, also is charged with four counts of second degree CSC. Each sexual assault charge is divided, Miller said, among several individuals, including three attacks on an 8-year-old boy. Conviction means a mandatory life sentence.

Greenwell is the oldest of three children raised in a central Westland district. His father Dillard, a plumber at a Detroit automotive manufacturing plant, neighbors said, worked 10- to 12-hour days, including Sunday and holidays, taking only Christmas and New Year's off.

Graduation day Diploma awarded in hospital room

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

While high school graduations are usually emotion-packed ceremonies marked with tears of joy and fond memories, one recent diploma celebration was truly exceptional.

Jubilant friends and family members attended a graduation ceremony at University of Michigan Hospital on Wednesday for a Westland high school senior who had both legs amputated in late May.

Timothy Cassidy, an 18-year-old John Glenn High School varsity wrestler, was trying to push a friend's stalled car off Ford Road when he was struck by a vehicle driven by off-duty Westland Police Officer Tim Kennedy, crushing Cassidy's legs between the two cars, police said.

Cassidy, who underwent four major surgeries, had to have both legs amputated above the knees and was often ill fighting infections before the graduation ceremony.

The accident occurred May 27 when Cassidy, after buying flowers for his school prom, drove off with friend Joseph Wagner, a 17-year-old John Glenn student. Wagner's 1985 Mazda ran out of gas and stalled on Ford Road, between Carlson and Wayne roads just before 3 p.m., police said.

Cassidy got out of the car to push it from the rear, when the vehicle driven by off-duty police officer Kennedy, who apparently failed to see him in the right lane, crushed him between the two cars, police said.

Cassidy was transported to Annapolis Hospital in Wayne and then air-lifted by helicopter to U-M Hospital, where he is now in stable condition after spending nearly two weeks in intensive care.

Police said no alcohol was involved on the part of the officer or the teenagers. Wagner suffered an injured left elbow and a bloody nose, but was not seriously injured, police said.

Kennedy was issued a violation by Westland police for failing to stop in an assured clear distance. Kennedy should appear in Westland 18th District Court sometime this week, Sgt. Peter Brokas said. The penalty for the charge is

Burning love? Man accused of setting date on fire

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

An 18-year-old Romulus man was arrested Wednesday following allegations that he dropped a girl into a bonfire early Sunday following her refusal to have sex with him at his birthday party.

Romulus Detective Sgt. Joe Wedesky said Michael Tomason was celebrating his birthday with a group of male friends Sunday night in the back yard of a home on Castle Road.

Tomason reportedly called the 17-year-old female victim to the party about midnight, Wedesky said, after the group of men had consumed some alcohol.

The victim told police Tomason was rather abusive to her after she arrived and she refused his sexual invitations.

Her refusal apparently angered Tomason, the victim said, as he then threatened to throw her into the bonfire if she continued to refuse his sexual demands.

When she refused again, the victim said, Tomason picked her up and held her over the fire while continuing to threaten her.

Wedesky said the victim was then either dropped or fell into the fire and suffered third degree burns of the right arm and upper back.

She reportedly held onto Tomason's neck and pulled him into the fire with her, Wedesky said. Tomason suffered first and second burns of the arms.

The victim then kicked her purse out of the fire, grabbed it and ran to her parked car, Wedesky said.

A witness said the victim's hair was smoldering as she fled from the scene.

The woman quickly locked herself in her car, Wedesky said, while Tomason tried to claim that he wasn't serious in his demands.

The victim was admitted to Beyer Hospital in Ypsilanti for treatment. She was released Wednesday.

Tomason was called to Romulus Police headquarters Wednesday, questioned and subsequently charged.

He was arraigned before 34th District Court Judge Henry Zaborowski on a charge of assault to do great bodily harm less than murder and ordered held in lieu of $50,000 cash bail.

The victim told Zaborowski her burns were caused "because I refused to have sex" with Tomason.

A preliminary examination was set for 9 a.m. June 23 in the 34th District Court.

Father's

Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it. Proverbs 22:6

Words of advice from the fathers of area residents linger in their memories and continue to guide them in their adult years.

Among the most popular pieces of advice were admonitions to live by the Golden Rule - to do unto others as you would have others do unto you.

Whether the advice is a simple word, a quotation or a bit of home-spun philosophy, the suggestions passed along from fathers to their children have made lasting impressions. Those same bits of fatherly advice are now being passed along to children and grandchildren of the men and women we interviewed, keeping the words of wisdom alive to inspire future generations.

Day

Advice remembered through the years

Police Capt. Alex Wilson, command officer with the Canton Township Public Safety Department.

Wilson's father, Robert, offered generous doses of advice, including: "He taught me not to judge people on their race or color, but on their actions. It's not what they are, or what they look like. Don't be a bigot. I think I've managed to carry those thoughts through my life."

Will Dockter, Belleville Police Chief

Dockter, who is retiring this month after 33 years as an officer, believes the best advice that was passed down from his father was to respect others.

"You can't beat the Golden Rule. It is the best advice for the way people should live. It is important to respect others and treat them the way you want to be treated," he said. "I can't abide inconsideration for others, whether it's in traffic or in daily living."

Dr. Terrel LeCesne, assistant superintendent of Romulus schools and former mayor of Inkster

LeCesne said his father, Armond, was a baker by profession who constantly stressed to his 10 children the values of education and hard work.

"My father raised and put all 10 of his kids through college," LeCesne said. "He would tell us that 'If it's worth having - it's worth working for.'"

Canton Township Administrative Services Director Dan Durack

Durack recalls that lying on his deathbed his father, Walter, said: "Tell people that you love them before it's too late. He never spoke much about relationships, but wanted me to know that it's OK to share your feelings before you die."

Cathy Karas-Wayne fire emergency services clerk

"My father passed away about 10 years ago, but I remember something he told my brother. He said 'It takes communication to make a marriage work.'" Note: Karas recently got engaged and is planning a fall wedding.

Betty Miller, a former Inkster city clerk who also served as the first woman mayor of the city of Inkster

Miller doesn't remember her father, Reginald.

"Father marched off to World War I and never came back," Miller recalls. "I was a child at the time. But for some strange reason as a child I liked to whistle. I still do. My mother used to tell me that father also loved to whistle. I guess it's his legacy."

Joseph Davis Jr., former Inkster mayor, city council member and planning commissioner

"Respect - give it - and receive it."

Those were the words that Joseph Davis Sr. wanted his three sons and daughter to remember and live by.

"My father believed that 'respect' was the key to a harmonious and productive relationship," said Davis. "Our family moved to Michigan in 1945 from Columbus, Georgia," Davis continued. "Father worked for Ford Motor Company for 42 years before he retired and, believe me, he taught us to respect people - all people. I feel my father's beliefs have helped me throughout my entire life."

John Esser, Camper World Manager

"Move to Michigan," was one good piece of advice that Howard Esser gave to his son, who now manages the Camper World location on Interstate-94 Service Drive near Belleville Road.

Formerly, Esser lived in Naperville, Ill., a city of 100,000 located 40 miles west of Chicago.

"My father gave me so much good advice that it's hard to zero in on one thing. What I've tried to do is emulate him in business and in the way he treats others. I try to react, the way he would," Esser said. "He's been a good role model for me, and I guess that's the best way to give advice," Esser said.

Inkster Mayor Edward Bivens Jr.

Bivens said his father, whose name he inherited, had a simple philosophy about life that was based upon honesty and the respect for the other person's opinion.

"Be honest, my father would say," Bivens recalls, "however, he also told us to think out a problem - to do your homework on the subject - and once you have made up your mind not to be afraid to stand up and take a position on it, no matter how controversial."

Edward Bivens Sr. was a cement contractor by trade and helped build many of the thoroughfares in Pennsylvania.

Ed Clark, director of the Romulus Community School District Partnership for Education Program

Clark said his father constantly urged him to "work hard, be a man, finish college and take care of your family."

The Romulus educator, who daily works to team up quality business leaders with junior and senior high school students, said that his dad also stressed "whatever you are going to do...take time to do it right. Be a good example and pass on these positive traits to your son."

The Rev. Dr. J.D. Landis, pastor of the Romulus Community United Methodist Church

Landis said his father always helped him work through his toughest decisions in life.

"Whether it was a choice of colleges, study majors, life workstyles (the ministry), moving to the Midwest or marriage, my dad (Dr. Harold Landis, a Pennsylvania veterinarian) was always there to help me through the decision process," Landis said.

"While he never would control the decision-making process," Landis said, "in a supportive and prayerful way he always let me know the strengths and weaknesses of the various options I faced."

Glenn Silvenis, Belleville Mayor

Silvenis especially remembers one bit of advice that his father, Stanley, gave him several years ago.

"A job is never finished until you're proud of what you've done," Stanley Silvenis told his son.

"Today, my mom and dad are retired in Florida and doing fine, and I still remember his advice."

"It's important to treat and respect people the way you want to be treated and respected," Silvenis said. "Also, put forth extra effort in your personal life and your work. The extra effort will gain recognition."

DADS

Silvenis, who has served two four-year terms as mayor, is a real estate associate. With his commitments as mayor plus his work, he finds it difficult to balance the requirements of both duties plus that of a husband and father. His oldest son, Eric, 21, is in the Navy, and his younger sons are Adam, 5, and Aaron, 8.

"It's difficult sometimes to balance my public and private lives. Sometimes, there are three meetings scheduled at the same time and there also are family occasions that arise," Silvenis said. "In my job I'm paid by the work that I do, and it's sometimes a time-and-one-half job. No matter how busy I get, I have to set aside time for my wife and children.

CHARGES

"I never saw him (Dillard Greenwell) spend one minute with those kids," said one woman requesting anonymity, as did everyone interviewed by The Associated Newspapers due to the nature and extent of the alleged crimes.

Loraine, his home-maker mother, is described as "very straight-laced" and "nice." The couple retired alone to Alabama four years ago and were unavailable for comment.

Greenwell's younger twin siblings, Gregory and Tanya, are described by neighbors as "different." Greg Greenwell, one neighbor said, wasn't allowed to leave the front yard and simply elected to "stare from his window," the neighbor added.

Tanya, was killed in January 1991 in a single-vehicle accident on Geddes Road. Gary sent each funeral home visitor a videotaped history of his sister's life complete with music and chronological pictures.

"His letter said he got a bunch of videos real cheap," one woman said. "I threw mine away because my mother had just died. The tape was well done and it made me too sad."

Greenwell attended Stottlemeyer Elementary School, Marshall Junior High School and graduated from John Glenn in 1976. He was a staff writer on the John Glenn student newspaper for two years and an honors graduate. Adviser Dan Diadiun recalls Greenwell as "bright" but "not a stand-out student." Several standard class photographs show him standing a noticeable distance from fellow classmates, wearing long hair and a strikingly serene smile.

But apparently there were two sides of Gary Greenwell. "I hope they lock him up," one visibly shaken former neighbor said.

Another neighbor said: "No one was shocked when they heard Gary was arrested."

Friends and business acquaintances, however, painted Greenwell in a far different light.

Canton Township Recreation Supervisor Bob Dates

Dates said his father, Murray, was advice laden.

"He used to tell that if I couldn't run with the big dogs, don't jump off the porch. In other words, if you can't stay up with the crowd you run with, find another crowd, pick your friends wisely. I've managed to keep from trouble listening to that advice.

Wayne-Westland Board of Education trustee Fred Warmbier

Warmbier said his father always emphasized the importance of a good education. Warmbier said that advice led him to give back what he had received by participating in the education of others through his term on the school board and being a Sunday school teacher.

William Chizmar, Haggerty Elementary School Principal

Chizmar has no doubt about the advice from his father, "Stand tall, act tall, be tall. Always do your best at anything you do."

The Van Buren School District principal not only heeded his father's advice, but he passes it along at every opportunity.

"I've carried his words with me wherever I've been and whatever I've done," Chizmar said.

Laurel Raisanen, Wayne-Westland School Board member

Raisanen said she developed her appreciation for nature because of her dad, who died when she was 15 years old.

"We lived in the country and had a lot of respect for nature. Dad had a lot to do with why I love it so much," Raisanen said.

Sylvia Kozorosky-Wicker, director of the Westland Senior Resources Friendship Center

Kozorosky-Wiacek remembers her father fondly and said she has taken his advice.

"My father always told me when you do something you believe in, continue to do it until you are proven to be wrong. If you're proven wrong, be able to say you're sorry," Kozorosky said.

Just before her father's death, he had another word of advice for his daughter.

"Go out when you're on the top," Kozorosky's father told her.

Kozorosky said her father meant that she should exit her career at the top of the ladder and not accept a lower position.

The Rev. John Hagan, pastor of Trinity Episcopal Church

When Hagan, was a youngster, his father gave him one word of advice - "think."

"He always told me to think before I act," said Father Hagan.

DIPLOMA

two points on a driver's record and a $50 fine, court officials said.

Prior to the graduation ceremony, Cassidy said he was able to visit with friends and family when he is not ill.

"I've been coming in and out of a lot of fevers," Cassidy said.

Cassidy added that he has no bitter feelings about Kennedy for the accident.

Cassidy was uncertain of his career plans after the accident. He said it depends on his recovery as to when he will get artificial legs and if they will provide enough mobility.

"I was going to be a conservation officer, but there is a lot of back country movement involved," Cassidy said.

Much of his courage to get through the accident, Cassidy said, has developed from the constant encouragement of his friends and family.

"My mom and dad are really supportive and the staff (U of M) helps a lot," Cassidy said.

Cassidy said that although it has been extremely difficult for him to get through this, other people in the same circumstances should remember that life goes on.

"It will get better. You do have a lot of people to lean on and people are there for you," he said.

U of M Doctor Alan Hilibrand was pleased with Cassidy's progress.

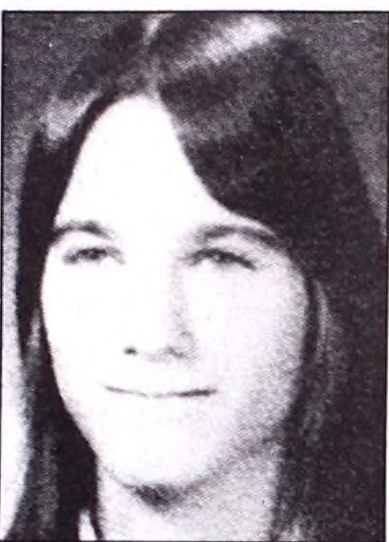

"I've taken care of his fractures and wounds and he's healing well," Hilibrand said.

"He had a horrible injury and he's made excellent progress and he's shown a lot of courage," Hilibrand added.

Cassidy was in good spirits

“My mom and dad are really supportive and the staff (U of M) helps a lot. It will get better. You do have a lot of people to lean on and people are there for you.”

At age 34, Greenwell was a successful television commercial and in-house video producer for Ross Roy heading production of large corporate accounts, including Chrysler. Unique in several ways, one woman said, Greenwell, was unafraid to promote friends' careers and actually helped an acquaintance found and develop a flourishing Canton Township set-designing firm. In three years, with Greenwell's guidance, the owner was able to leave a factory job and build a thriving 10-employee company.

"He's simply a genius," another friend said.

The woman said Greenwell was intensely private about his personal life, and admitted that she thought he was homosexual. Travelling only in the company of men, the woman said, Greenwell also had a male housekeeper. She acknowledged that close friends believed Greenwell was growing and smoking marijuana.

"But it wasn't that big of a deal," she added. "He's just a very motivated person that loves his work. No one cared about the drugs."

Miller said the personality of a pedophile includes a tendency to be an achiever and highly personable.

"That's what makes the pedophile so successful," the veteran street detective said. "They're very calculated and very motivated."

"She has her boss who takes money from her to buy the crack and then the hotels benefit from her services."

Those arrested came to solicit from within the western Wayne County area and as far as White Lake Township.

"We arrested one Wayne man, some from Shelby Township, Westland, Ypsilanti and Gaylord," Drews said. "There were people actually lining up to talk to the undercover officers. We're just not going to tolerate this any more."

Drews said the Wayne Police Department will continue to conduct sting operations from time to time until prostitution ends in the community.

All 22 individuals arrested are expected to appear for arraignment 10 a.m. June 30 before 29th District Court Judge Carolyn Archbold.

Wayne police were very successful with arresting more than 18 individuals for accosting and soliciting approximately two years ago.

Helping hands

Human services agency builds opportunities

Build it, and they will come.

A human services agency which serves more than 1,400 people with developmental disabilities is expected to open the doors to a new home in Wayne at the MetroPlace Center in September.

Jim Dehem, Wayne Community Living Services Inc. (WCLS) executive director, gave an overview of what WCLS can offer to Wayne and the surrounding communities and what Wayne can offer WCLS.

Dehem said the WCLS search for a new home base began about 1 1/2 years ago. The agency will be coming from Northville.

"The friendliness and welcomeness we found in this community played a big part in why we decided to come to Wayne," Dehem said. "We serve people with development disabilities which include mental retardation, cerebral palsy, epilepsy, autism and other related conditions."

"Our mission is to enable people with developmental disabilities to experience a full life with dignity, health, opportunity for personal growth and self-esteem while residing in the community."

Jim Dehem

WCLS is a non-profit agency which administers a variety of supports and services in residential and work settings, through more than 90 provider agencies and 50 foster parents, according to Dehem.

"We provide a support system where we assist people so they can live in a house on their own," Dehem said. "Our mission is to enable people with developmental disabilities to experience a full life with dignity, health, opportunity for personal growth and self-esteem while residing in the community."

The accomplishments of WCLS are many, but the highlights include:

- Closed down three specialized nursing homes and five state-operated institutions.
- One of the first agencies in Michigan to place children and adults with complex medical needs into group homes and foster care homes.
- Helped more than 350 people with disabilities get jobs with pay through the Supported Employment program.

- Enabled one couple to purchase their own home.

"We do not operate the homes," Dehem said. "We provide a case management person who follows how a person is doing on a day-to-day basis."

"We have a professional staff to assist individuals with their various needs. Much of our revenue is derived from the federal government."

Another major component of WCLS is finding work for those with developmental disabilities.

"It's amazing how jobs reverse the people that have them," Dehem said. "They are anxious to get there in the morning. They are always on time, and they work hard."

WCLS employs more than 250 people. They will occupy approximately 60,000 square feet of the Metro facility, according to City Manager John Zech. He said WCLS will be fifth largest employer in the city.

Mike Sloan, managing agent for MetroPlace Center, said it took more than a year of negotiations for a decision to be reached with WCLS.

"This decision was reached due to a combined effort with the city, great bankers, excellent attorneys and excellent partners," Sloan said. "It was a team effort. It's something we've been waiting for a long time."

MetroPlace Center officials are now in the process of renovating the interior to convert the building from a retail space to offices in order to facilitate the needs of WCLS.

The agency has agreed to a seven-year lease with renewal options.

Residents band together to play their favorite country tunes

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

They play the songs everyone enjoys singing.

The Waco Country Band will have feet tapping and fingers snapping at their outdoor performance June 24 at the Wayne amphitheater in Goudy Park.

The five-member band includes western Wayne County residents Dean Stacy of Westland (lead guitar), Tammy Gaspar of Westland (guitarist), Jim Nelson of Plymouth (base player), David Stringer of Livonia (drummer) and Michael Powell of Warren (keyboard player).

"We play modern country music as well as classic country and oldies," Stacy said. "We have some original music which is written by Michael and myself. Besides the individual instruments we play, all of us sing."

The band formed in 1984. All of the members knew each other previous to joining Waco, Stacy said.

"We play mostly in the tri-county area," Stacy said. "We perform at various clubs and concert festivals."

highlights of Waco involved being a finalist in the 1989 Marlboro Country talent contest. The group also played at a club at the Palace in Auburn Hills, opened for country artist Bobby Bare in 1992 and performed at the 1993 Budweiser hoedown.

The group has a fan mailing list and a large following.

"We practice about twice a month," Stacy said. "I really enjoy country music, meeting all the people and working with such a great band."

Waco Band members are hoping to do "bigger and better things" in the near future, according to Stacy.

"For right now we just enjoy playing for people," Stacy said. "For all those people who do come out to see us June 24, we do take requests."

Stacy originated the Waco band name. He said he knew quite a few musicians from Waco, Texas which gave him the idea.

"I just want people to know that we didn't come up with the name because of David Koresh. I thought of it way back in the early 1980s."

The Waco Band will perform at 7:30 p.m. June 24. The concert is free to the public. For additional performances at the amphitheater call the Wayne Community Center at 721-7400.

Ice-s-creaming match

Tempers flare, ice cream flies in dispute

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

A dispute over an ice cream order led to an ice s-creaming contest June 10, Westland Police officer Tim Pennington said.

According to police reports, Westland resident Lisa Boron, 25, and her husband Steven, 27, placed an ice cream order at approximately 7:30 p.m. at the Wayne Road Dairy Dan drive-through window. When they received their orders Boron told the clerk a requested second topping on both orders was missing, police said.

Boron said her husband took one ice cream and asked the clerk to make another, at which point the clerk asked her manager to assist with the Borons' order, police said. At this point, statements of the Borons and the manager conflict, Pennington said.

Boron told police the manager re-made the ice cream, returned to the window and suggested the couple patronize another ice cream parlor allegedly using obscenities and throwing the ice cream into the car. Boron said her husband counterattacked by throwing his ice cream back at the manager.

According to police reports, Boron left her car after the incident and began using foul language as she knocked on the store window and demanded her money back.

Manager Patricia Root denied throwing the ice cream. She told police Steven Boron threw his ice cream because he was upset about the order, police said. Root told police a portion of Steven Boron's ice cream splattered in the car and the remaining order landed in the store.

Pennington said he could not determine the responsible ice cream party because two cups of overturned ice cream, one in the car and one in the store, were found by police.

Owner Gary Root refused comment. Boron said she is taking the owner to small claims court to replace a pair of ice cream-stained pants and clean the car upholstery.

Burglar confesses to 20 area thefts

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

A 21-year-old man, who apparently was on a breaking and entering spree, was arrested by Inkster police and charged with illegal entry and receiving and concealing stolen property.

Inkster police said Alton Dean Peterson has admitted to them that he has broken into about 20 area homes in recent weeks in the cities of Westland, Taylor and Inkster.

On Wednesday, Peterson opted to waive his examination, conducted before Judge Sylvia James of the 22nd District Court. The defendant was bound over for trial in circuit court.

Peterson told the judge that he understood the charges against him and that he wanted to waive his right to an examination in the district court. James ordered the defendant incarcerated in Wayne County Jail in lieu of $35,000.

Peterson is to appear at 9 a.m. June 30 for arraignment on the charges in the Frank Murphy Hall of Justice.

Police credit an alert citizen with the arrest of the suspect.

"The citizen saw a man crawling through a window around 2 a.m. and he knew that it wasn't the homeowner, so he called police," said Detective James Vergona of the Inkster Police Department.

Police were dispatched to the 4000 block of Isabella Street where they managed to arrest the suspect inside the building.

Vergona said that much of the loot reportedly stolen from the break-ins was sold on the streets.

"We're in the process of tracking some of the items down," Vergona said. "This guy was quite active in Inkster, where we believe most of the break-ins occurred. However, he also had admitted to at least one break-in in the city of Westland and others in Taylor."

"We're just happy to close the books on these cases," Vergona added.

Charles Millard dies

Veterans seek employment

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

Veterans seeking employment are prepared to match their training, experience and discipline with anyone in the job market. However, for many returning veterans, the slow economy and corporate downsizing have hindered their attempts to gain employment.

In an effort to assist veterans to find employment in the private sector, the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC), along with local veterans organizations, is sponsoring an Employ a Vet Expo '93 on June 23.

The exposition, which is slated from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Light Guard Armory, 4400 E. 8 Mile Road, is open to veterans who register with a veterans representative at an MESC office.

"Some 40,000 veterans were expected to return to Michigan in 1993, but we expect that number to double," said Larry Jones, veterans representative at the MESC Canton office. "The veterans are well trained, well disciplined and ready to work every day. We had a call from an employer who was very pleased with the veterans her company had hired. She said they were so diligent about coming to work that they had to be sent home when they were sick."

Jones, who is a veteran himself, said returning service men and women have a lot to offer their employers. In addition to the training, discipline and experience that the veterans have gained in the service, they also have developed a work ethic that makes them desirable employees.

"We have an unfortunate situation here with the military reducing its forces at the same time that businesses are downsizing," Jones said. "We are hoping that the job fair can match employers with veterans who are seeking jobs, and provide benefits for both."

One of the duties of the MESC staff is to translate military jobs into their equivalent in civilian employment.

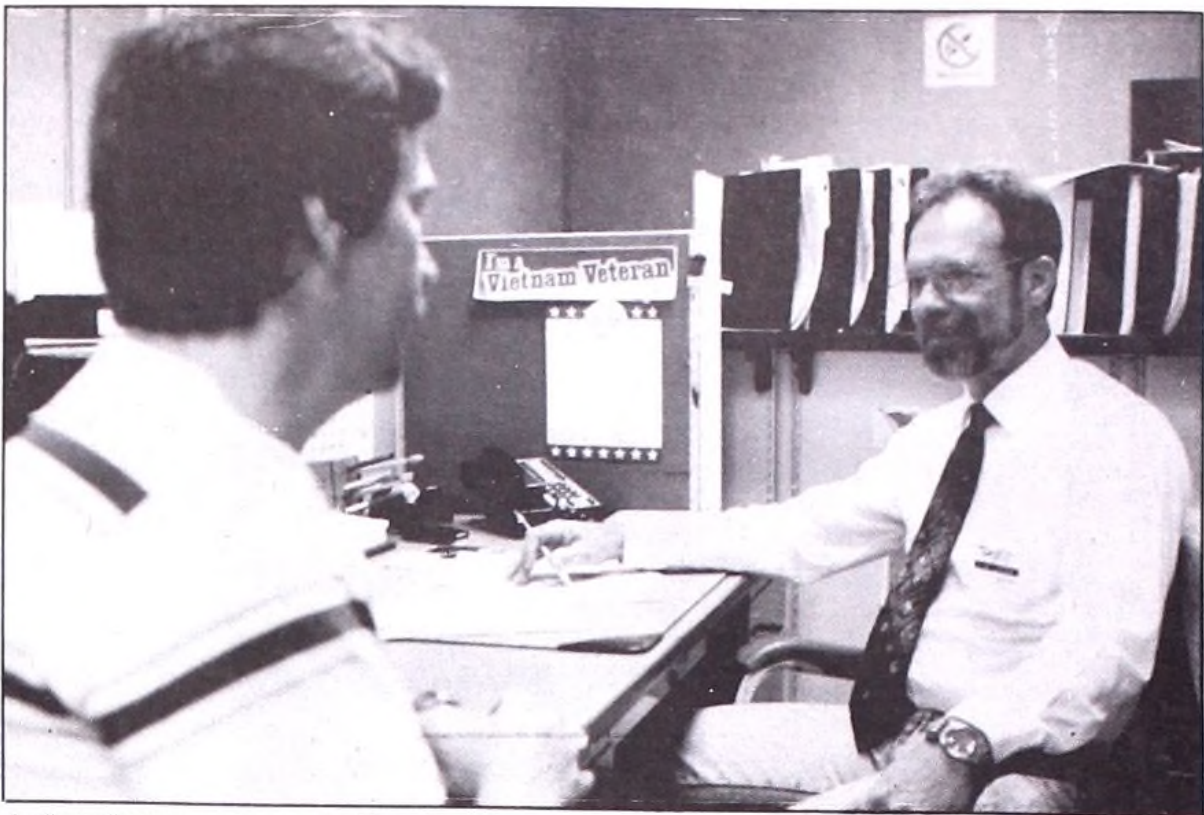

"We have a nuclear submarine missile technician who is seeking employment. At first, it would appear that there is not much of a market for that type of job in Michigan, but he must have a lot of technical skills to have attained that responsibility," Jones said. "We need to match his technical skills and his level of responsibility with a civilian job. For example, the kinds of technology that is used on missile launchers can be used in robotics."

Jones said he has received positive feedback from employers who are pleased with the veterans they hired.

"We not only work with veterans who have recently left the service, we also seek jobs for veterans from the Vietnam era. There is still some stigma left, but public attitude has changed a lot in the past 20 years," Jones said.

"The job fairs are just as beneficial for employers as for veterans," said F. Robert Edwards, MESC director. "They not only allow employers and veterans to make numerous contacts in a single location, but they present an excellent opportunity for employers to find workers who are high skilled, motivated and dedicated."

"Employers can expect the quality of the applicants to be as good if not better than those at any private sector job fair," said George Johnson, chair of the Michigan Job Service Employers' Council.

In a special tribute issued by Gov. John Engler, he urged the public "not to forget the debt we owe these men and women who have loyally served our nation in war, and we must never take for granted their contributions and sacrifices." The governor called for citizens to recognize the skills that veterans are able to contribute to the work environment.

Employers who are interested in the Employ A Vet program, may contact the local MESC office or call 589-8777.

Pornography shop expansion permits puzzle city officials

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

City officials in Inkster are wondering who gave a pornography shop owner permission to expand a wall and parking lot on Michigan Avenue.

The officials had no answers Wednesday night when the chairman of the Planning Commission questioned the legality of the owners of Book Shack to make the renovations.

"They demolished the house on the corner over there and extended the back wall to Isabelle. They've added parking space - doing all of this without permits and a site plan," said Danny Williams, chairman of the Planning Commission. "I believe they are in violation of our city ordinances, and I am asking the city issue a stop order so that no further development occurs on that property."

The store which contains graphic sex books, magazines also has "peep shows," videos

"What we got them to do is to agree not to display anything on the outside of the building and keep it all in the inside. Sure we have tried to close down these places in the past, but the courts always have ruled against us."

and sex paraphernalia has doubled the parking area and extended the back-of-the lot wall to separate the building from a residential area.

Store owner Melvin Harris said that he has obtained all the necessary papers to do the work.

"We bought the corner house and demolished it," Harris said. "The building was padlocked by the city because it was a crack house. The corner was an eyesore. Now it isn't. It's a parking lot and there's nothing wrong with that. In fact, the residents have thanked me for cleaning it up around here."

Harris said he was puzzled over the reaction of the city.

"I don't know what they are talking about," Harris said. "I applied and received a permit to demolish the house and expand the parking facilities here. It's cost me around $65,000 to do all this."

"I bought the building and paid all of the back taxes and paid the water bill on the building," Harris continued. "We've improved this property and they (city officials) issued me a permit to do all of this."

Harris then produced a permit he said that the city issued for the work.

"I have been in business here for about 22 years and have never had any problems. We have improved this property, I would think they would thank me."

City officials over the years have unsuccessfully attempted to close the store and a theater, located on the south side of Michigan Avenue, features triple X pornographic movies.

Betty Miller, former mayor and long-time city clerk who presently serves on the Planning Commission, said that under a court order, the store was allowed to remain open "but not expand."

"They (store owners) know that they have legal restraints on them, but I do not know if expanding the parking lot would fall into that category," she added.

Former Mayor Terrel M.

LeCesne questioned the need of the business to "present a site plan to the Planning Commission for expanding the parking area."

"After all, that area is zoned for business and it is a business," added LeCesne.

"As mayor, I led the fight against pornography in the city. And we managed to contain and even close some places. But there are constitutional limitations on what the city can also do. They (the pornography dealers) successfully argued that the city was attempting to 'restrain trade' and the courts back then agreed with their arguments. It was sort of a standoff - and that's where it stands today."

Former Mayor Joseph Davis Jr., who served on the Inkster

Planning Commission for 39 years before losing his bid for re-election in 1991, said that he believes the store owner is not required to present a site plan to the Planning Commission approval unless he plans to build on the property.

"What we got them to do is to agree not to display anything on the outside of the building and keep it all in the inside," Davis said. "Sure we have tried to close down these places in the past, but the courts always have ruled against us."

"I know the people of the city would like us to shut down these places, but even the Supreme Court of the United States doesn't know how to deal with and can't even define what is pornography."

Kerry D. Erickson, son of Libby and Ron Erickson of Wayne, will be ordained at 4 p.m. today at the Grace Moravian Church of Westland. Erickson graduated from the Moravian Theological Seminary of Bethlehem, Penn. on May 16, 1993 with a doctor of divinity degree. He is a 1983 graduate of Cherry Hill High School. In 1989 Erickson took a year off from his theological studies in Pennsylvania to pastor two small churches in Guyana, South America. In September 1992 he was named to the staff of the Moravian Congregation of Lititz, Penn.

Court examination set in death

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

A July 26 examination has been scheduled for an Ecorse man charged with second degree murder before 29th District Court Judge Carolyn Archbold.

Kirk Miller was to appear before Archbold June 14, however, he had a seizure while en route to the court house and was taken to Annapolis Hospital where he was treated and released.

The attorney for the Ecorse man asked to adjourn the June 14 examination in order for a forensic to take place.

The defendant was driving a gray Grand Prix eastbound on Michigan Avenue June 2 when he allegedly slammed broadside into a blue mini-van traveling southbound on Second Street in Wayne.

Miller appeared for a June 4 arraignment before Archbold, and a $100,000 bond was set.

The accident resulted in the death of Canton Township resident Brian Hale, 33, who was a passenger in the mini-van. Westland resident Harold Maples, 37, who was the driver, was hospitalized at the University of Michigan Hospital.

Miller was being pursued by Allen Park police officers who were attempting a traffic stop. Miller didn't have a license plate and was speeding, according to police officials.

"At approximately 7:10 p.m. the Wayne Police Department received information from the Allen Park Police Department that they were pursuing a vehicle in the area of westbound I-94 and Wayne Road," Wayne police Lt. Dan Randall said.

"Wayne advised Allen Park police to contact Romulus police as I-94 and Wayne was their venue."

At approximately 7:15 p.m. Wayne police officers received information that the vehicle was eastbound on Michigan from I-275.

"A Wayne car was on Hannan Road approaching eastbound Michigan Avenue and observed police vehicles on Michigan Avenue from Hannan Road with overhead lights on," Randall said.

"The Wayne car turned eastbound on Michigan and advised us he was eastbound assisting other jurisdictions. The Wayne unit continued eastbound on Michigan Avenue for approximately two miles when the police officer informed us a crash occurred at Michigan Avenue eastbound at Second Street."

If Miller is found guilty he could receive up to life in prison for the offense.

The Princess Laura has begun dinner cruises on Belleville Lake.

Princess Laura sets sail

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

Cruising on Belleville Lake has been a popular attraction for the past three years, and a new season of dinner cruises and sailings begins this week.

One of the most popular summertime activities at Van Buren Park is the annual visit of the Princess Laura, a replica of a Mississippi riverboat which offers cruises on Belleville Lake on June 17 to 20.

"Advance ticket sales are going well. We have clubs and organizations that plan to end their season of meetings with a lake cruise," said Park Director Michael Long. "The boat offers luncheon and dinner cruises plus matinee and midnight sailings. Charter cruises for groups of 30 and up to 112 are available on some days."

Dinner cruises feature the Captain's prime rib dinner or Chicken Cordon Bleu, according to Long.

"Departure for all cruises will be from Van Buren Park, located on the South Inter-tate-94 Service Drive," said Long. "Tickets are available by reservation only from the Princess Laura ticket office or from the Van Buren Recreation Department in the township hall."

Lake cruises are available at the following times: Luncheon cruises, noon to 2 p.m., $25 per person; matinee cruises, 4 to 5 p.m., $10 for adults, $5 for youngsters ages 4-12; dinner cruises, 6 to 8 p.m., $30 per person, and midnight cruises, 9 p.m. to midnight, $15 per person.

32. Help Wanted*RETAIL

Help add to our 300% growth rate.

If you've always pictured yourself with a fast-growing company, Arbor has the perfect opportunity for you beginning as an Assistant Store Manager!

In the past eight years we've grown from 42 to over 130 stores, with plans for several more in 1993. We were recently named on Forbe's list of the 200 Best Small Companies in America. In 1991, Arbor was named as Michigan Company of the Year by the Detroit Free Press.

Your career can experience the same kind of results, when you join us as an Assistant Store Manager. If you have retail management experience and/or a college background, we'd like to hear from you.

We're looking for proven leaders who have the ability to make sound decisions and guide others in our demanding retail environment. If you can picture yourself with a growing multi-million dollar company, please send your resume to:

Arbor Drugs, Inc.
